The Death Penalty Again

The basic wrong of the death penalty in the United States was demonstrated again in the case of Paul Crump, whose death penalty was commuted to a life sentence by the governor of Illinois a day before he was scheduled to die in the electric chair.

Crump was captured, tried and convicted of shooting down a guard during a holdup more than ten years ago. There was enough doubt about the testimony of the man who fingered him to warrant a retrial, at which he was again convicted, and fourteen stays of execution. An impressive array of people formally asked that his sentence be commuted.

The requests for clemency were not merely the result of sentiment or publicity as in the case of unrepentant Chessman or by those who are opposed to the death penalty on moral grounds. Crump has become a different man since he began his long wait for death ten years ago. Apparently, the man most responsible for the change is Warden Jack Johnson who was among those who appealed for elemency in Crump's case. From a leader of the most vicious and rebellious prisoners, Crump has changed into a leader for responsibility and compassion. For years he has worked with the most difficult prisoners in the jail hospital.

If Crump had been executed it would have been a denial of man's belief in rehabilitation and simply a return to the ancient philosophy of an eye for an eye. But now that his sentence has been commuted it might be a sign to every bum in Illinois that the way to beat the rap is to get religion. The choice was difficult but the human element dictated that Crump should be given clemency.

The whole case indicates again how insidious and basically immoral is capital punishment. The greatest deterrent to planned crime is the sureness of apprehension and justice. The death penalty defeats this purpose because society in the twentieth century doubts that it is right. It should be outlawed in every state. It has long been out of date.

Still a Mystery

The Department of Public Safety in Texas has announced that further investigation into the death of Henry Marshall indicates that perhaps there was foul play. The department has made no hasty decision; it has had an autopsy performed and apparently considered the matter at

Marshall was an Agriculture Department official who made warning noises about the activities of Billie Sol Estes some months ago. When he was found shot, his death was ruled a suicide and he was

But the new findings show that Marshall was shot five times in the stomach with a bolt-action rifle which had to be re-cocked after each shattering shot. That didn't impress the Department of Public Safety, however. Apparently Texans shoot themselves in the stomach that way every other day. But Marshall also was found to have been hit on the head a blow that might have proved eventually fatal if the rifle hadn't subsequently put an end to him. And he had inhaled so much carbon monoxide gas that he was probably unconscious when the bullets struck home.

There obviously are more investigations which should be made into those who insisted Masshall's death was a suicide in the first place. And why was the job so botched? Suicide may not be easily simulated but it can be more cleverly imitated than in Marshall's case. Did the killers know there was no reason to really make it look as if Marshall had killed himself?

Alcohol and Age

Hearings are currently being held in New York before the Joint Legislative Committee for the Study and Revision of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law. The main issue is whether or not to raise New York's minimum drinking age from 18.

New York is the only state in the union with so low an age for both men and women. Hawaii has 20 as the minimum and several other states besides Wisconsin have lower ages for beer or light wines. Until recently, Illinois permitted women to have alcoholic beverages at 18 but men had to wait until they were 21.

The problem in New York that has been stressed in the hearings is not drunkenness or other ill effects among New York's 18 to 21 year old population. Instead the concern is over the out-of-state commuters who drive over the border, consume more than they should, and then crack up going home to Connecticut or New Jersey. The six counties of New Jersey bordering New York have had a high percentage of highway deaths in the last few years involving drivers under 21. Quite obviously the matter of driving even several hours in order to buy an alcoholic drink is merely a challenge to the teen-ager.

Wisconsin has had a similar situation in a milder form in the western part of the state where Minnesota youth cross the borders to get beer unavailable to them at home until they are older. Uniform regulations would ease the edge-of-state problems. But the basic problem of when a person is old enough to handle alcohol intelligently has never been settled. Experience indicates that age has very little to do with it.

We suspect that whatever age was set, there would be the same problem. Even in this air era Hawaii may be a little remote for Californians of 20 to go for a drink. But there will always be those under the minimum age to seek out alcohol to prove maturity or to show off. It may even be that the setting of any minimum only increases the problem and stimulates early, uncontrolled drinking.

Alcoholism and the over-indulgence in alcoholic beverages are serious problems in the United States. They may be primarily individual emotional problems and symptoms of illness or disturbance. But we also realize that social pressures to drink, whether resulting from positive forces or the negative effect of too strict laws like that of prohibition, also contribute. The difficulty for legislatures is to determine when regulation or prohibition works toward less abuse of alcohol or more.

Errors in Bank Balances

There are some "gifts" which it is illegal to receive. If a bank clerk through error marks your book with a balance larger than you actually have, that money is not yours to spend.

Recently a furniture dealer in Washington, D.C., wrote several checks against his account in a Washington bank because his account showed a balance of $3,845.94. After the checks had been written and the money spent it was discovered that he had been credited erroneously with $2,748.52 more than he had deposited. When this error was corrected the bank customer was overdrawn by $1,308.13. The bank then brought suit for the overdrawn amount. The customer in turn sued for $40,000 damages because he claimed he had relied upon the bank's representation of the status of his account.

However, the court ruled in favor of the bank. It said that the bank had immediately notified the depositor of the error and that "the depositor had a corresponding duty to check the statement rendered and to inform the bank of any errors found therein."

Just writing larger figures in your bank book doesn't make it so.

Girl Watchers Society

In this day of the organization man, there is one organization which is having no problem signing up members. It is the American Society of Girl Watchers, which recently held its first annual Girl Watching Pageant in New York. The whole thing started out as a spoof, but now it's become an organized business. It originated with a small group of Madison Avenue advertising men who met for lunch frequently and were looking for a release from modern-day business pressures. They decided they needed a handbook and one of their number brought forth "The Girl Watchers' Guide." It was published by Harpers for $1. All 32,000 copies which were printed sold out. A second printing is now planned. Invitations to 2,000 acquaintances to join the club brought 2,500 memberships. Now licenses have been issued for a number of products on the girl-watching theme, including field glasses and sweat shirts. An animated cartoon short is contemplated. The Girl-Watching Society has become big business.

We haven't seen any news reports on the recent convention, but we suspect the Girl Watchers may take note of the recent announcements by Paris fashion designers that hemlines are coming back down this season. The organization should be able to draft an enlightening resolution in that

Lists 'Neglected Circumstances' Concerning Outagamie Jail

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I feel that I must write this article to present the taxpayers with a few important and much neglected circumstances concerning the Outagamie County Jail. Many articles have been published as of late in the Post-Crescent concerning our jail and the conditions surrounding it. This includes an article in the July 24 Tuesday night Post dealing with the complaints made by Mr. Robert Sparana which finally prompted me to write.

First of all I feel that the who pedantically insist that a division of control is in the public interest. They tend to regard the political party as a conspiracy to hold power. But those who believe that government is a responsive and responsible instrument, dynamic and productive, prefer clear-cut mandates. A vigilant and resourceful minority, pitted against a careful and experienced majority, probably is the best assurance of performance in the general interest.

The fact that Gen. Pope informing the anxious inquirers for his headquarters that they would be "in the field on horseback!" shows that work will soon commence.

There is one very important fact we would urge upon the young men at home: the Union army needs reinforcing; we need the aid of our old companions - schoolmates, shop mates and associates -- to help us in this great work of reconstruction!

Let not the love of your neighbor's parlor and the fascinating connections therewith keep you at home. Do not be afraid of the enemy's searching bullets. Let none of these keep you from aiding your country and friends now in such imminent peril.

Lay aside for a time your broad-cloth and kids. (gloves), Bid farewell for a time to the old home circle, the pleasures of civil life. Answer the call of your country in the time of its peril, her laws set at defiance, her flag insulted and dishonored, her forts bombarded and her merchantmen destroyed, and our own existence threatened. Let the young men of our "Woodland Home" prove their petriotism by joining Capt. Jewitt's company and rally round the good old flag and swear to stand by it "till death doth them sever.

Appleton Post-Croscont A7

Thursday, August 2, 1962

KAUKAUNA-Changes in Kaukauna rail facilities and long range plans to eliminate Main Avenue congestion were outlined by J. L. Larson, Fond du Lac, Chicago and Northwestern Railway Co. trainmaster, in an informal meeting of the Kaukauna city council here Monday night.

Changes would include elimination of the main rail crossing at Main Avenue and the reduction of switching operations at this crossing.

Because of increased trailer-onflat-car operations in the Kaukauna-Appleton area, the railway plans to build a more accessible and efficient trailer ramp in a new location.

Larson said the railroad also is constructing new team trackage to provide Kaukauna with better service. He added that about 50 per cent of this new track has been installed.

Also discussed was the planned retirement of Kaukauna's old freight depot and the improvement of the parking area near

William Zuehlke said that the extensive and narrow character of the commercial zone is a major downtown problem. Others, he said, are the lack of good access to the downtown area, the lack of use of the south side of the avenue by shoppers, and the need for a more beautiful downtown.

The Gruen mall plan for Appleton called for a series of "super blocks" on the avenue, surrounded by a one-way perimeter Water Clinic traffic artery and off-street parking facilities. The landscaped Held Tuesday pedestrian mall, it said, would held Tuesday "provide a pleasant and safe atmosphere for shoppers."

(mix Gordon's Gin in a tall, iced drink-and you will, too!) 🛜

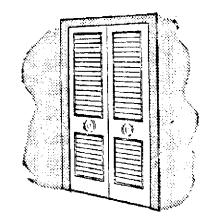

he English are not easily fazed, even by summer heat. This national talent was given a cheerful accompaniment in 1769, when Alexander Gordon introduced his remarkable gin. The Gordon's you drink today harks back to his original formula, because one does not tamper with gin of such distinctive dryness and flavour. Try it soon in a tangy Gin & Tonic or Tom Collins. You'll see why, summer and winter, Gordon's Gin is the biggest seller in England, America, and indeed - the world!

BY LILLIAN MACKESY

The scene is set for summer . . . the place is porch, patio, dining or living room . . . the time is early afternoon or evening . . . with the cast including the host and/or hostess and a collection of guests. The characters of this drama are flexible . . . the group can be members of a bridge club . . . a neighborhood get-together . . . or a gathering of congenial friends.

Whatever the party occasion, this collection of special recipes will steal the scene and make the cook the star. Each and every recipe has glamor in its looks, its taste and unique quality.

Two are from the Deep South . . . the long popular Lime Pie (this one with a crunchy graham cracker crust) and Shrimp Mousse. One of the prettiest of summer dishes is a tray of assorted melon balls, served with a delightful dip that combines peanut butter, sour cream, frozen orange juice and chopped candied ginger. Another is a whopper of a sandwich, stacked high with tantalizing layers of ham, pineapple, tomato aspic and several cheese spreads.

The spread, dressing and dip recipes are versatile and can be used with other dishes. The Cream Cheese Dressing, for instance, used here as the binder in the Shrimp Cream Cheese Spread, is an excellent dressing for main dish and vegetable salads.

With this collection of recipes . . . not one in the lot the least bit difficult to prepare . . . any homemaker can become the "hostess with the mostest" and establish a very big culinary reputation.

Lime Pie With Cornflake Crust 6 cups cornflakes 6 tablespoons sugar

34 cup melted butter 1 teaspoon water

2 tabléspoons unflavored gelatin

14 cup cold water 1 cup boiling water

1/2 cup sugar

6-ounce can frozen limeade concentrate

16 teaspoon salt 3 to 4 drops green food coloring

% cup chilled undiluted evaporated milk

Crush cornflakes very fine to make one and one-half cups crumbs. Combine cereal, sugar, butter and water; mix well. Pack evenly over bottom and sides of buttered nine-inch pie plate, buildup edges to form a firm rim. Bake in 375-degree oven until lightly browned, 10 to 12 minutes. Cool crust before filling.

Whip milk until thick; stir in thickened gelatin mixture. Pour into cornflake crust. Chill until Ancient Egyptians worshipped garlic and gave it to the workers ably originated in the days be-firm. Garnish with lime slices, fore refrigeration, when it was if desired.

For a Beautiful fruit dish, arrange luscious honeydew, cantaloupe, watermelon and Cranshow balls in thick slices of melon on your prettiest tray. Serve the balls with picks so the juicy fruit may be dipped in a peanut butter mixture for delectable bonus eating.

Shrimp Mousse is an old, old recipe as southern as camellias and popular South of the Mason-Dixon line long before the advent of the electric refrigerator. It combines sliced cucumbers and radishes in the mousse and as a garnish with such artistic effect that guests may be reluctant to eat it at first. It's delicious as a main luncheon dish or as a salad.

Governor Race Opponents Hit Tax Policies

Kuehn, Reynolds Each Charge Other Will Raise Levies

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Rival candidates for governor of Wisconsin exchanged sharp criticism on tax stands Wednes-

John Reynolds, the Democratic aspirant, charged in La Crosse that the Republican-endorsed candidate, Philip G. Kuehn, "does not have the courage to go before the people and tell them point-blank that he intends to raise the poor man's tax rate 250 per cent.'

Kuehn, who had called Reynolds a "demagogue" Tuesday, got off another blast at the Democratic candidate.

Raise Income Tax

Kuehn said that Reynolds "intends to raise the income tax to the highest level of any state in the country if he is elected governor." He contended that Reynolds advocates a one per cent increase in each step of the income in Sparta Jail

Relocation Of High Line Draws Protest

Alderman Objects To Request That City Pay for Project

Planned relocation of a Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. high voltage power line in the northeastern section of Appleton at city expense drew a protest from Ald. Thomas K. Schneider at Wednesday night's city council meet-

The line is five feet south of the center line of W. Lindbergh Street between Mason and Richmond streets.

"I don't object to the relocation of the lines." Schneider said, "but I do object to them being moved at city expense, allowing a few individuals to plat their land and sell it at city expense."

Estimated costs for the relocation of the transmission line to an easement 120 feet north of the present site is $15,000 with a probable salvage return of $7.-000, leaving a net cost of approximately $8,000.

Legal Obligation

City Atty. Fred Froehlich ruled that the city has a legal obligation to pay for the job since the city accepted the plat without knowing of the easement.

The council voted that the city should accept an agreement with the State Highway Commission on traffic signal maintenance and operation for the intersection of W. College Avenue and Mason

At the same time, the city electrical department was authorized to purchase traffic signals and equipment for "Walk" and "Don't Walk' lights at the College and Mason intersection at an estimated cost of $3,200.

Ward residents "very happy."

Because of a petition from property owners on S. Carpenter Street objecting to a special assessment, the council voted to withdraw plans for installing a curb and gutter and added gravel BY RAY PY on Carpenter Street, between Mc- Post-Crosecent Staff Writer Kinley and Harrison streets.

Holds U. S. Back

But instead of letting Uncle Sam go ahead and do it, Japan often tugs at his coattails.

Allowances must be made for domestic politics. It is taken for granted that Japan must protest U.S. nuclear tests even though the Russians broke the moratorium with some 50 explosions of their own.

But Japan's attitude toward Southeast Asia is something else. Actually, Southeast Asia is far more vital to Japanese interests than to those of the United States. If Southeast Asia went Communist. Japan would lose a major market and source of raw materrals

But when the United States landed troops in Thailand, a shudder of official alarm was felt in Tokyo as to American intentions There was no show of alarm over Communist intentions. And, needless to say, the socialists raised a fuss because a few Japan-based US Air Force transports were used to ferry American troops.

Ortiz Gains Close Win in Non-Title Bout

MANILA (AP) - World Lightweight Champion Carlos Ortiz punched out a narrow 10-round decision Wednesday night over aging Arthur Persley of Red Cross. La., in a non-title fight. Ortiz weighted 137%, Persley, 136%. The decision was unanimous but close, and the champion had to come from behind in the closing round to gain the victory as Persley, 38, put up a surprisingly strong fight.

Ortiz, making his first appearance since winning the championship from Joe Brown last April. never was able to mount a sustained offensive against the crafty veteran.

The crowd of some 23,000 at the Araneta Coliseum in nearby Quezon City booed the decision and kept up a clamor for a draw into the next hout on the card. Persley has been living in Manila for the past two years. Referee Teodorico Reves and

Judge Jaime Valencia both scored the fight 48-45 for the champion. Judge Alex Villacampa scored it 47-45. The AP had Ortiz winning

The 24-year-old Ortiz, from New York, was cut around both eves in the early rounds but the injuries were not serious.

Says Outlook for Ducks Is Poor

ST. LOUIS (AP)-The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service nesting survey indicates the fall flight of waterfowl may be as much as 17 per cent below that of last year. Larry Gale, chief of the Fish and Game Department of the Missouri Conservation Commission reported on the survey at the Mississippi Flyway Council meeting Wednesday. About 75 persons from 14 states are attending the RESSIONS.

Gale said the outlook for the fall flight was not good. He said there is talk of curtailing the duck season and that some states are considering elimination of the Gale said that 1981 was a poor duck year and the Mallard population was particularly low.

Stricken Northeast Will Get Little Rain, Lower Temperatures

WASHINGTON (AP) - Th! Weather Bureau said today little relief is in sight for the droughtstricken Northeast during the next 30 days.

"Subnormal rains are anticipated in the Gulf and Pacific Coast states and also in those northeastern states currently affected by drought," the bureau said in its 30-day outlook.

It added that continued below normal temperatures are expected over the northern half of the nation east of the Continental Divide but above normal in the Gulf states, the Southeast and the Pacific Northwest.

Near normal temperatures are expected to prevail in unspecified areas "except for below normal over the Far Southwest." Precipitation is expected to exceed normal from the Southern Plateau states through the Central Plains and the Ohio Valley, the bureau said. Wisconsin

Frost is something that shouldn't happen in August, even in the cranberry bogs. But it did early today as the mercury skidded to 36 degrees in the bogs near Phillips.

Hospitable, Economical, Picturesque

The Cape Cod with fireplace in the 25 ft living room is a home you will be proud to say "this is MY home, my very own feature laden Cape Cod," What do you mean, you wouldn't say it that way? Oh, you'd say "MY home has a fireplace, and It2 baths. and three bedrooms. and a two car garage. and is close to schools. and has a big yard, and has a disposal and dishwasher and can chute in the kitchen, and it has lots of charm . .

Wouldn't it be easier to say "feature laden"" Of course it isn't yours yet You'll be surprised how easy that is to arrange Start now by picking up the phone and saying "I'd like to see that hospitable. economical, picturesque Cape Cod priced at only $17,500" Isn't that casy?
